

Liberty National
Has $881,832.81
Investments Here

E. D. Brazelton of the Brazelton Realty Company, Elba, having mortgage loan connections with Liberty National Life Insurance Company of Birmingham, has released some interesting figures relative to the mortgage investment in Coffee County of that company.

According to Mr. Brazelton, the company and its affiliates had approximately $881,832.81 invested in mortgages in Coffee County at the end of the year, 1960.

He stated that this investment of funds was in line with the long standing policy of Liberty National of investing in those communities and areas which it serves. These loans made by the company in Coffee County were primarily for the purpose of assisting many local people to own their own homes and most of them were made available through the FHA loan plan.

Mr. Brazelton was particularly pleased to point out the unusual record achieved by Liberty National in making mortgage funds available in every one of Alabama's 67 counties and during the year 1960 this company increased its Alabama investments by making new loans in 49 of the 67 counties. Liberty National and its affiliates had at the end of 1960 approximately $66 million invested in Alabama mortgages in addition to substantial sums outstanding in other types of investments.

Mr. Brazelton is happy to advise that the policy of Liberty National of investing funds in Coffee County will be continued through the coming year. He suggested that any person seeking funds for buying or building a home or in connection with the financing of a centrally located commercial property should feel free to call upon him for advice and information relative to procedure.

Farmers Reminded Of Deadline For Acreage Release

Farmers who do not plan to plant all or part of their cotton allotments in 1961 can protect their cotton acreage history by releasing the allotment to the ASC County Committee.

Gunter, chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. Such acreage must be released before the deadline, March 15.

A farmer who plans to plant at least 75 per cent of his cotton allotment this year need take no action to release any acreage in order to preserve the allotment base on his farm. But a farmer who fails to plant at least 75 per cent of his 1961 allotment will find his cotton allotment will be reduced in 1962 if he fails to release the unused part of his 1961 allotment to the ASC County Committee.

By releasing the unused part of the cotton allotment to the county committee, the individual farmer's 1961 planting history will be preserved and also the planting history of the county and State. The released allotment will be apportioned by the County Committee for use by other farmers within the county.

Here are the requirements which cotton farmers must meet in 1961 in order fully to protect their future farm allotments: The farmer must (1) plant at least 75 percent of the 1961 allotment, or (2) release at least 75 percent of the 1961 allotment to the ASC County Committee by the March deadline, or (3) plant and release a total acreage which is equal to at least 75 percent of the 1961 cotton allotment, and (4) actually plant some cotton in 1961 if the entire allotment was released in both 1959 and 1960. (Acreage in the Conservation Reserve program at the regular rate may be regarded as "planted" under this program provision.)

The Chairman urges farmers who do not intend planting all of their cotton allotment in 1961 to get in touch with the ASC County office to discuss how to protect their future cotton acreage history.

The board sued an open invitation to officials of cities in Coffee county to attend a Civil Defense meeting, March 9, at 2 p.m., at the County Court House.

Fort Rucker Helps
Local Business By Over 33 Millions

Fort Rucker poured $33,711,300 into the Wiregrass area during the past fiscal year, Maj. Gen. Ernest F. Easterbrook, post commander, has announced.

Quoting figures released by Lt. Col. J. U. Overall, post comptroller, Gen. Easterbrook said military payrolls reached $14,775,000; civilian payrolls were $8,750,000; the aircraft maintenance contract was $6,198,000; military construction cost $3,220,000 and training of primary fixed wing students amounted to $1,968,000.

Other expenditures included local purchases, $750,000; fuel servicing, $210,000; local contracts, $204,000; local projects, $131,000; laundry and dry cleaning contracts, $70,000; janitorial services, $31,000; and Fort Rucker's contributions to area United Fund drives, $7,500.

Government jobs have been created at Fort Rucker for 538 civilians, the general said. The 870 employees under the Civil Service Class Act are paid at rates which are standard throughout the Civil Service system. They do "white collar" work. Some 654 skilled tradesmen and laborers are paid through the Civil Service Wage Board. Their wages are based on the hourly pay scales which prevail in the surrounding area.

Private companies which hold government contracts, such as the Test and Development Company, the Hawthorne School of Aviation and the Hayes Aircraft Corporation provide jobs for 1,646 more civilians at Fort Rucker.

Test and Development Company, with 230 employees, has an annual payroll of $1 million. Hawthorne's 206 employees earn $1,380,000 and Hayes Aircraft pays its 1,190 workers $5.5 million, Gen. Easterbrook revealed.

In addition to the proceeding work force, which is predominantly stable, there is the fluctuating volume of military construction at Fort Rucker, being done by private contractors. Jobs of this type though variable, help to reduce unemployment in the Wiregrass considerably.

Since Fort Rucker's beginning as an infantry training camp in May, 1942, the Department of the Army has spent many millions of dollars on the improvement and expansion of the post, Gen. Easterbrook added. The conversion of the Fort into the US Army Aviation Center required huge expenditures for the construction of aviation facilities and pilot and maintenance training. During Fiscal Year 1960, 5,147 officers and enlisted men were graduated from the courses within the Army Aviation School.

"The greatest percentage of each Fort Rucker soldier's and civilian employee's paycheck is spent in the communities surrounding the Fort," Gen. Easterbrook concluded.

Nation or Geographical Location?

Why did Poland topple over-night before the onslaught of Hitler's legions, while its little neighbor Finland withstood the mightiest legions of Russia?

The answer is that Poland was beset by internal division while Finland was a united country.

Anyone who has lived in various parts of the U. S. cannot but be impressed how united are some areas of this great land of ours, while the seeds of internal dissension have been sown and are growing in other parts.

One area that comes to mind was made up of first or second generation immigrants from various parts of Europe with Croatians calling the Italians "Wops" and the Italians calling the Balkans "Eebunks" while Americans of Anglo-Saxon origin were hated by all.

Then there is another area which comes to mind. Though the population is several generations removed from their European origins, yet the people are divided by religion. Over one-half the citizens is either Lutheran or Roman Catholic. The Lutherans do not permit their children to go to public schools but send them, instead, to schools taught by Lutherans. Catholics do not permit their children to go to public schools but send them to schools taught by nuns and Jesuit priests. There is constant bickering between children in the public schools with those in the parochial schools. There is constant bitterness between children in the Lutheran schools and those in the Catholic schools.

When they grow up and enter the business world this dissunity continues.

It's interesting to see the influence such a situation has upon the rest of the population. It might be assumed that there would be litigation to discard the causes of the division but the opposite is true. It grows ever wider, like the waves in a pond when a pebble is tossed into the water.

The first to establish parochial schools was the Roman Catholic Church and this caused the Lutherans to establish their own parochial schools. Then the pastor of the largest of the city's several Methodist churches began to advocate establishments of Methodist parochial schools.

After having lived in more than a dozen places in the U. S., there is found less prejudice and greater unity in Elba, Coffee county and South Alabama generally, than in any of the others. Yes, there is greater unity here than in Pensacola and Mobile, where the dissunity begins in the division between public and parochial schools with their different textbooks and different outlook on history and geography, particularly religious history.

There is greater friendship and unity among the white and colored people in Elba than between the "Slavs" and Italians in Any Town, Pennsylvania, because they are daily reminded of the rivalries of their European ancestors. There is greater unity between the white and colored people in Elba than between the Lutherans and Catholics in Suburbia, Illinois, with their school textbooks giving them conflicting accounts of American history and world geography.

Why is it that England has never had to cope with dissunity within the country? Why is it that a German is always proud of his German ancestry? England does not permit division to begin in its schools though every religion is guaranteed freedom of worship; England welcomes immigrants but screens them so as to admit only immigrants who are devoted to England. The same was true of Germany until it was torn asunder by two World Wars.

England, and formerly Germany, were nations in the true sense of the word. Poland and Italy have never been more than geographical locations.

Therein lies the lesson for America, where signs of dissunity are already apparent.

A pat on the back to Mayor Dozier Roberts and the Elba street department for checking the floodgates and seeing that they were in working order before Pea River started to rise last week. Baptist BWC Marks 24th Anniversary At Meeting

The 24th Anniversary of the B.W.C. of the First Baptist Church was observed at a special meeting in the church's social hall Monday evening, last week.

A color theme of red and white was emphasized in the decorations. The long banquet table, covered with a white linen cloth, held for its central decoration a massive arrangement of red carnations. Giant-size carnations of the same hue were placed at intervals the length of the table.

Silver branched candelabra holding tall red candles completed the table decorations. Guest's places were marked by attractive name cards further carrying out the color motif.

Mrs. Cecil Prescott gave the invocation and extended a welcome to visitors and circle members.

After the delicious meal, Mrs. Prescott presented Miss Mabel Brunson who gave a musical reading accompanied by Mrs. George L. Collier. A brief review of the circle's history was given by Mrs. J. W. ASK-SEEK-KNOCK

Everyone knows that success comes not to those who merely desire it, but to those who achieve it through long, hard work.

It is odd then, that in the spiritual area of life some people should expect blessings to come for the asking.

Those who really understand PRAYER know that it's more than mere asking. It is seeking. It is the hungry search for truth and moral enlightenment . . . digging for spiritual gold in the hills of life.

But PRAYER is something more even than seeking. It is knocking . . . meeting life's obstacles bravely . . . waiting with patient determination until closed doors open . . . entering portals that the more timid pass by.

We wouldn't really need churches if spiritual growth came for the asking. But we do need churches to help us seek the treasures of God. And through our churches, with the united strength of millions of Christians, we knock on the portals of the more abundant life—and there find it.

How to give the public more and better understanding of the school and its every activity was discussed at length. It was pointed out that once each year the school observes American Education Week, and that a special effort is put forth to get parents to visit and observe the work in the classrooms. The sincerity of purpose and the deep interest and concern toward schools on the part of the administration and board members was most gratifying to the teachers.

After the program a social hour was enjoyed. Punch and cookies were served.
